MORNE ROUGE GONE.

Wiped Out by a Terrible Eruption of Mont Pelee Saturday Night.

THE PEOPLE AGAIN FLEEING

200 REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN KILLED.

Le Carbet Swept by a Tidai Wave-Impossible to Approach the Ruined Town of St. Pierre from the Sea-Showers of Ashes Full Over the Island and the Inhabitants of Fort de France

Castrles, Island of St. Lucia, B. W. I., Sept. 1.-The British steamer Korona arrived here yesterday evening from Fort de France, Island of Martinique. She reports that a terrible eruption of Mont Pelee occurred at 9 o'clock Saturday night, and that people who arrived at Fort de France from the northern part of the island reported that the village of Morne Rouge (near the district previously devastated) had been entirely destroyed, and that Le Carbet (a village on the coast, close to the southern end of the territory which was destroyed at the time of the great eruption) had been swept by a tidal wave. About two hundred persons lost

A sloop from the Island of St. Vincent, which reached here this mouning. reports that Mont Pelee's crater is now quiet, but that the detonations during Saturday night were the loudest heard up to that time, and that the inhabitants were terribly alarmed.

Castries, Island of St. Lucia, B. W. I. Sept. 1.-Mont Pelee has been in constant eruption since August 15. There was an enormous fall of ashes from the volcano the night of the 25th. There was a very severe eruption the night of the 23th. The mountain burned flercely that night and out at sea passing vessels were covered with ashes. The night of the 30th there were three separate eruptions.

It is impossible to approach the ruined town of St. Pierre from the sea. The people of the village of Le Carbet, on the coast, are terror stricken and flying to the interior. Hot water is pouring down on Lorrain and Basse Pointe. The governor of Martinique has ordered every available boat to remove people from the coast villages to Fort de France.

At'8 o'clock in the evening of the 30th the sky was cloudless. Suddenly onehalf of the horizon was obscured by a nd of dust This cloud the center of most magnificent electric effects, the flashes of light surpassing the most elaborate fireworks. Flames and flashes continued to burst from the cloud until nearly midnight. Columns of flame shot out of the crater of Mont Pelee to explode about the cloud in showers of balls of golden fire which fell through the darkness in myriads of sparks. Three large aureoles were seen in the sky over the opening of the cra-

A tidal wave rushed upon Fort de France and the terrifled inhabitants of the port fled in large numbers to the interior. The wave did but slight damage. At midnight of the 30th Mont Pelee was quiet, shortly after that hour there came another shower of ashes accompanied by vivid sheet lightning.

In addition to the two hundred reported to have lost their lives at Le Carbet and Morne Rouge, many other persons are said to have been killed all over the northern districts of the isl-The governor of Martinique is believed to have started for the scene of Basse-Terre, Island of Gaudeloupe, French West Indies, Sunday, Aug. 31 .-The French Transatlantic Company's steamer Salvador, which has just arrived at Pointe-a-Pitre, reports that she left Fort de France, Island of Martinique, yesterday afternoon, and passed Mont Pelee at 7 o'clock the same evening. The volcano was then in violent eruption. On approaching the Islands of Les Saintes (small islands off the south extremity of Guadeloupe) ashes were falling on the vessel. She arrived off Pointe-a-Pitre_at 5 o'clock. but was unable to enter that part until 11 o'clock at night, owing to the obscurity.

DENIED BY THE PRESIDENT.

Report Regarding Attorney General Knox and General Wood.

East Northfield, Mass., Sept. 1.-The attention of the president having been called to the published statement that Attorney General Knox's name was being credited with the view of appointing him to a justiceship on the supreme court bench to succeed Justice George Shiras, it can be said on the authority of the president himself that not only does he not contemplate such a move but Justice Shiras has not resigned. The president classed all such statements as without the least foundation and that they only come into his mind when he sees them in print.

The same published statement also credits him with having reached the conclusion to place the construction of the isthmian canal under the jurisdiction of the army with General Leonard Wood as chairman of the canal commission. The president likewise is authority for the statement that he has no intention whatsoever of changing the civil nature of the commission.

GR AT PARADES IN THE LEAD-ING CITIES.

Twenty Thousand Men, Mostly Miners. March to Scranton-Many Also Turn Out at Wilkesbarre-Contributions Taken for the Relief of the Miner During the Parade in Denver-Watters March in Full Dress in Cleveland.

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 1.-Twenty thousand men marched in the Labor day parade here to-day. It was the biggest labor procession ever seen in this city. The striking mine workers formed the entire first division and they were over twelve thousand strong. No demonstration was made at any of the collieries, and the strike situation here re mains unchanged.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 1.-Nearly ten thousand men took part in the Labor day parade in this city to-day. All the trades unions were represented, but the majority of those in line were miners. The strikers were cheered all along the line of march. They carried banners which bore inscriptions pleading for their cause.

Denver Sept. L-During the Labor day parade in this city to-day men in a wagon received contributions from people along the line of march for the relief of the anthracite coal miners of Pennsylvania. About ten thousand men were in the parade.

New York, Sept. 1.-Labor day in New York was observed with a parade of nearly forty thousand men. There were the usual sporting events and picnies by various political organizations.

Cleveland, Sept. 1 .- Twenty thousand workingmen started on a five-mile Teddy Billington, second. route in their annual parade in this city to-day. One hundred waiters were in full dress, including silk hats, and one hundred bootblacks were a part of the procession. There were no women marchers, although a large number of them rode in carriages who were representative of their sex in the labor

Buffalo, Sept. 1 .- Over ten thousand men participated in the Labor day parade in this city to-day, and the annual picnic was held. Business was very generally suspended.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 1 .- President Compers of the American Federation of Labor to-day reviewed an immense parade of organized labor. It was the first celebration under the law making the first Monday in September Labor day.

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 1.-Labor day was celebrated here to-day appropriately with a parade in which labor unions and merchants and manufacturers participated.

ANSWERS IN MERGER SUIT

GENERAL DENIAL SET UP BY DE-FENDANT CORPORATIONS.

Filed in United States Court in Minne sota Yesterday Afternoon-Declares That Northern Securities Company Has Never Conducted Any Business in Minnesota-Never Became Subject to the Laws of the State.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 1.-The defendants in the merger suit brough by the state of Minnesota filed their answers this afternoon in the office of the clerk of the United States circuit court. The suit was brought by the state against the Northern Securities Co., James J. Hill, as president of that company; James J. Hill, as an individual; the Great Northern Railway Co., and the Northern Pacific Railway Co. There is one answer for the Securities

Co., and Mr. Hill, in his character as president and individually; one for the Great Northern and one for the Northrn Pacific. But the answers of the Securities Co and of Mr. Hill sets up all the matters of defense, and the railways in their pleadings simply follow the Securities company's answer with such changes of phraseology as are required by their liverse characters.

The main answer, that of the Securiies company, is more than usually diect and plain for a legal pleading. It s a general denial of the complaint.

Defendants deny that the Northern Securities company has ever conducted any business in Minnesota, or had any place of business, or owned any propery in the state and the railways, the the property of the Eastern Railway of Minnesota, are operated by virtue of a lease to the Great Northern Railway Co. They also deny that James J Hill was on November 13, 1901, or that se has ever been, the owner of, or in the essession or control of, or had on said day, or at any time, subject to his direction or disposition, more than a maority or more than a porton far less han a majorty, of the captal stock of the Great Northern Co. They deny that the Northern Pacific Railway Co. ever ecame a corporation of, or within the state of Minnesota, or that it ever became subject to the laws thereof, except by filing a copy of its articles with the secretary of state and complying with the statutes. They also deny that the Northern Securities company's lines. have since the organization of the Securities company been operated subject to the dictation or control of the officers of that company, and deny that the poard of directors of the Northern Pacific company, when the bill was filed, or at any time since, have been the persons stated in said bill.

They admit that cities and towns amed in the bill are points on each of the two lines of railway, but deny that the lines between these points are parallel or that the lines competed for reight or passenger traffic between said points in any different manner or

MEMBER OF DANISH NOBILITY. William Bartholin Held fin Chicago for Double Murder.

Copenhagen, Denmark, Sept. 1.-Wil-Copenhagen, Denmark, Sept. 1.—Wil-liam Bartholin, who is wanted by the Unexpectedly Early Move in Hamden, employed by C. W. Blakesolice of Chicago to explain the murder of his mother and his sweetheart, Minnie Mitchell, is the son of a scion of Danish nobility, William Peter Bartholin, who died at the Soldiers' home in Milwaukee, Wis., some years ago. The elder Bartholin came of a distinguished family of the Danish nobility. He was a jurist, was educated at the University of Copenhagen and had the title of Gentleman of the Bed Chamber. He emigrated to America in 1859 and had many vicissitudes there. At one time he worked as a scavenger. He has near rela-tives living in Denmark.

The Danish government believes that the elder Bartholin died a natural death, but has instituted an inquiry into Official Statement That the Ships Enterthe cause of his demise.

PRESIDENT LEAVES VERMONT

CONCLUDES LABOR DAY WORK AT MOODY SCHOOL.

Greeted With Cheers by the Students-Tells Them a Man is No Good Who Does Not Know How to Work With His Hands as Well as With Big

East Northfield, Mass., Sept. 1 .-President Roosevelt to-day concluded his tour through Vermont at Brattleboro, and is spending the night here at East Northfield, from Brattleboro to the Mount Hermon school, being met at the station by W. R. Moody, the head of the Northfield school: the Northfield selectmen and by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, who came from Boston on the afternoon train. As soon as the party reached the Mount Hermon school the president held a short reception to the trustees of the school in the vestry of the Moody Memorial chapel. When the president appeared in the audience room of the chapel he was greeted with prolonged ground. He could not attend to office cheers by the students. Mr. Moody introduced him, simply saying: "I have the honor to introduce to you President Roosevelt, who will now address with his head." The students of the school sang as he closed the benediction "The Lord Bless

After he had finished the president was driven immediately to the Hotel Northfield, where he and his party took dinner.

At 8 o'clock this evening the president spoke in the large Northfield auditorium, which was completely filled. In the large gallery were the Mount Hermon boys and directly in front of the platform were the veterans of the civil Time, war, while on the platform were Senator Lodge, the trustees of the Northfield schools and many citizens prominent in political life. Congressman Gillette presided.

The president's address was listened to with close attention and was punctuated with frequent applause.

At the close of his address the president was presented with a large bouquet by the local Grand Army post. The presidential party was then escorted to the Hotel Northfield, where they passed the night. The president's progress through Brattleboro was a continuous ovation. On the line of march his carriage was stopped in front of the leading hotel. and from the balcony men, women and children showered loose flowers and bouquets upon him. Arriving at the Common, where he delivered his address, the pavilion steps were strewn with flowers by little girls, who were drawn up on both sides. Labor day was generally celebrated throughout the state, and wherever the train stopped heliday crowds were out to extend the president a welcome. The heat was excessive, but the president seemed to suffer but little from its efects. His remarks on the subject of labor were confined mostly to a tribute to the people of Vermont, and he ex-

ing Were Apparently Put Out of Action-Admiral Higginson Turns Back-His Fleet Divided and an Attack on Newport Hourly Expected.

New London, Sept. 1. -The opinion prevailed early this evening that the attacking fleet would not attempt a passage before midnight, although the army officers had congnizance of their whereabouts and knew the first ship under command of Admiral Higginson would in all probability come through the early morning hours. But it is the inexpected that happens in war. At almost simultaneously and there was the war game was in effect. For an hour the cannonading continued and the parsonage will be erected. esult, from the army standpoint, is est stated in this official bulletin post d at headquarters at 12:20:

"Movement to pass through the Race egan at 10:20 p. m. Forts Michie Wright and Terry engaged fifty minites. Apparently the ships entering have been put out of action by points scored by the army guns." The result, however, will be determined later by the board of arbitration. All was quiet at headquarters when suddenly the reports of the big gun vere heard and General MacArthur President Roosevelt came directly listened attentively. The attack wa on but it came sooner than was expect ed by the major general commanding. For the moment all communication with the forts by telegraph and telephone was cut off, the artillerymen be ing engaged with the enemy and all the wiring at the forts were being utilized in the firing of the big guns. Mac-Arthur could stand it no longer. He ordered his yacht Kanawaha and with Colonel Berry, chief of staff, proceeded to Fort Wright to be on the battle work while the big guns were booming in the distant forts in firing at the incoming navy. Far out in The Race the eight ships commanded by Admiral Higginson were sighted and just as soon as they came within firing distance pleased with his reception and with the firing began and there was quick rehas been divided, the balance under command of Coughlan not being seen during the first attack. It was thought at headquarters that Coughlan had tak en his fleet toward Narragansett Bay and would make an attack on Newport or that he would follow Higginson and the remark at the time, but three pismake an effort to get by the forts in the New London district, or that a combined attempt would be made.

Higginson came from the east to The Hace and there the fight commenced with all the realism, as far as possible. with actual war. For the first forty minutes the firing was continuous, the aim of the soldlers being aided by the searchlights, which worked to the fullest satisfaction. The ships had lights was arrested a few hours later by Poout and evidently Higginson thought he could get nearer the forts, within the safety line, before the discovery was the army officers claim, and his ships including the Massachusetts and Indiana were put out of action. He kept would no next, but he manoguvred the fleet most masterly and hurried to the westward, out of the firing zone. Just xactly where the fleet went was no cnown definitely at headquarters, but should the enemy attempt to go through Plum Gut there may be something be-

KILLED BY A TRAIN.

Michael J. Ormond, Formerly of This City, Struck in Hamden Michael J. Ormond, a teamster, living less and working on the new Cheshire trolley, was struck by the 4 o'clock train from New Haven on the Air Line division yesterday afternoon while walking on the track and almost instantly killed. The accident occurred in Hamden about balf a mile from the Cheshire boundary line at a sharp curve at that point in the road. The engine threw him about 20 feet into the air onto an embankment and he died within a few moments. Engineer Burke brought the train to a short stop and the body of the man was taken to the Cheshire station. Dr. Charles N. Denison, the medical examiner of that town, found that Ormond had received a compound fracture of the skull, that both legs were broke above the ankle that his back was horribly and mutilated.

Ormond's remains were taken to an indertaking establishment. He was a heavy man aged about 39 years and formerly lived in New Haven.

MURDERER EARLY DEAD

MAN WHO SHOT YARDMASTER FENN DIES IN PRISON.

Crime Committed in New Haven in 1895-Early Was Drunk and Shot Fenn Three Times From the Rear-Sentenced to State Prison for Life at the Age of Twenty-three Years.

Daniel F. Early, thirty years old, at ne time a resident of this city, living at 9 Asylum street, died of tuberculosis in the hospital of the state prison at Wethersfield at 7:30 last night. He had been ill for about a month. He leaves a mother and sister, who live in this city.

The crime for which Early was senenced to state prison was that of murdering Lyman M. Fenn, who for several years was a foreman of the Consolidated road at Long wharf. The deed was committed on the morning of April 6, 1895, and Early was sentenced their eyes are in good con-18 of the same year. It seems that Early was partially drunk at the time. He left one of the yard shantles saying, "Old Fenn will not be seen alive again." Nothing much was thought of tol shots fired in rapid succession a short time after aroused the men at the shanty, and, going to the place, found Fenn in a pool of blood. Only one of the shots had taken effect. The wound was located in exactly the same spot as that which caused the death of President Garfield at the hands of Assassin Gulteau. Fenn lingered for several days and then passed away. Early

MR. CLEAVELAND'S RESPONSE To Queries Propounded by the Local

Economic League. New Haven, Sept. 1, 1902. The Economic League of New Haven: Dear Sirs-I have this afternoon reseived your official communication requesting a reply to certain queries. I hold it to be the duty of every man placed in an official position to obtain all the information possible in regard to the subjects concerning which he must act, and then to use his best judgment in deciding what action he will take. I trust that those who desire my nomination will have sufficient confidence in me to believe that I will if nominated and elected, act upon this principle. I have never made a promise as to . any future political action, believing that every man should always maintain the right and the liberty to act in accordance with his honest convictions when the time for action comes.

I will say frankly, however, that it does not seem to me probable that if elected governor I should call a convention in the manner indicated in your questions. Very great changes have been made in the Constitution by the amendments recently passed in a constitutional way, which will presently be put in operation. The changes thus affected, taken together, are nearly as radical as envadditional ones which would probably be made by a convention called in the manner which you suggest, yet the last

I am now inclined to think that the matter of further constitutional reform may, for the present, properly be left to constitutional methods.

Respectfully your LIVINGSTON W. CLEAVELAND.
